

Directory of IAC Certified Coaches

Coach Approach for Organizers™ trains professional organizers and productivity specialists to use coaching skills in their work with clients. This is ADHD coach training which is powerful for all clients who experience organizing and productivity challenges.

Our ACSTH program begins with Coaching Essentials, an 8-week, coaching skills intensive. The one-year+ Certified Organizer Coach Foundation Program includes four additional courses: Strengths-Based Coaching, Brain-Based Coaching, Life & ADHD Coaching, and Organizer Coach Integration. Foundation graduates have completed intensive coaching practice, readings, forum posts, and written and recorded assessments.

About half of our graduates continue into advanced and specialized coach training courses and seminars, an independent project, and explorations of additional coaching models to deepen the foundation training. They are then eligible to apply for credentialing as a Certified Organizer Coach®. Credential assessments and administration are conducted by the Institute for Applied Coaching™ (IAC). The Certified Organizer Coach® (COC®) credential was initiated in 2009 and exceeds the requirements for ICF's Associate Certified Coach (ACC) designation. Each applicant documents extensive, multi-year experience as an organizer or productivity specialist.

In 2014, building on the above curriculum, we established credentials at an ICF Professional Certified Coach (PCC) level. These new credentials are the Professional Certified Organizer Coach, the Certified ADHD Organizer Coach, and the Certified Productivity Leadership Coach. This full coaching program is accredited by the International Coach Federation, as well as 125 hours of coach training, client coaching hours and mentor coaching. They must demonstrate strong coaching competence within their specialties.

Need a Credentialed Organizer Coach? Location Might Not Matter!

The organizer coaches included here have been trained to use coaching in an on-site session – and to provide coaching by telephone. If you do not need an on-site organizer (or you have one but would like the support of a coach also) consider coaching by phone. It's even more private -- and it's efficient, as there is no commute necessary. On-site and telephone coaching can serve a prospective client in the following ways:

- To clarify life or organizing goals before starting a big project
- To improve productivity or time management skills
- To provide at-a-distance organizing and coaching support (for the client and/or staff)
- To design and support new systems, routines or habits to become/stay organized or maintain health.

To remain on this list, recertification is required every three years and earned through continuing education.
